

Wawel's Dragon

An ancient polish legend

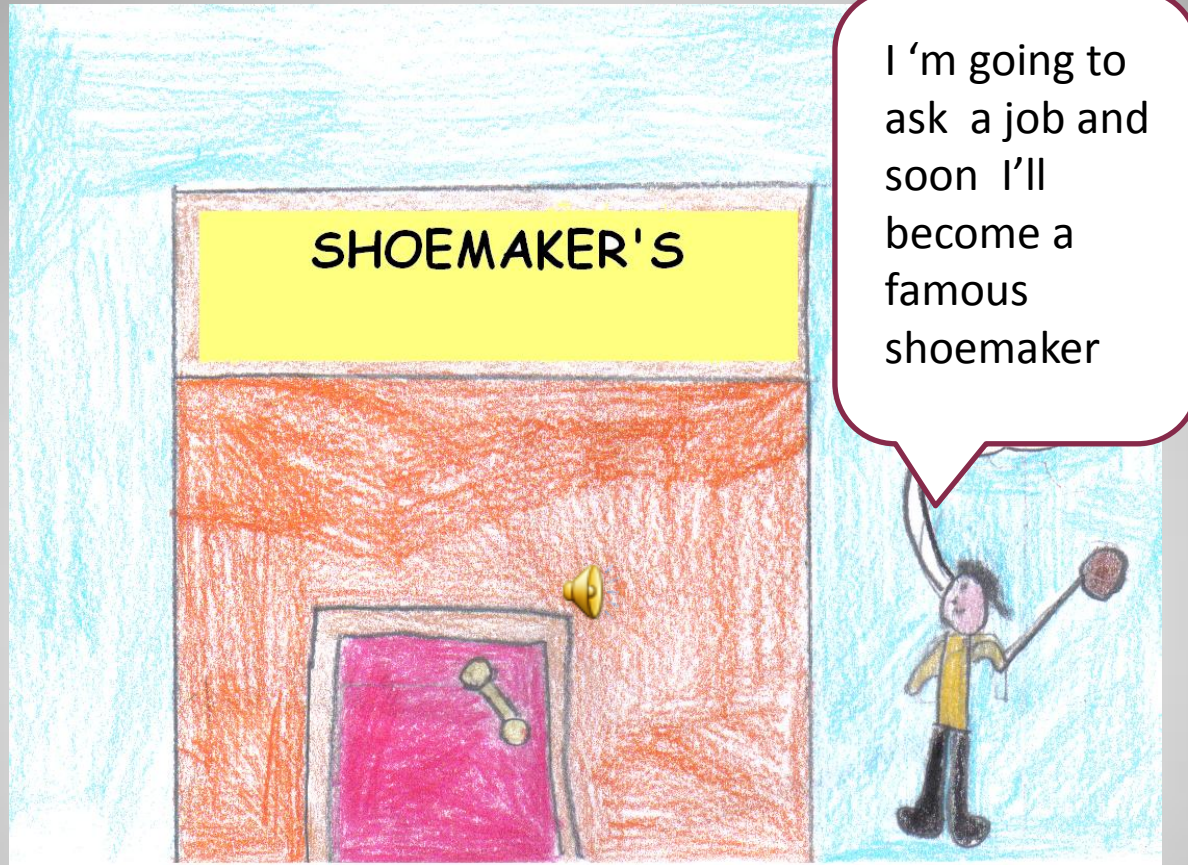

The Prince Krak and the Princess Wanda speak about their country

The building lasted a few years.....

Hundreds of people from all sides of Poland were coming to the new town. They wanted to find jobs or start their own workshops.

Among them there was a young shoemaker, whose name was Skuba and who just started to learn his profession...

Help!!!!!!

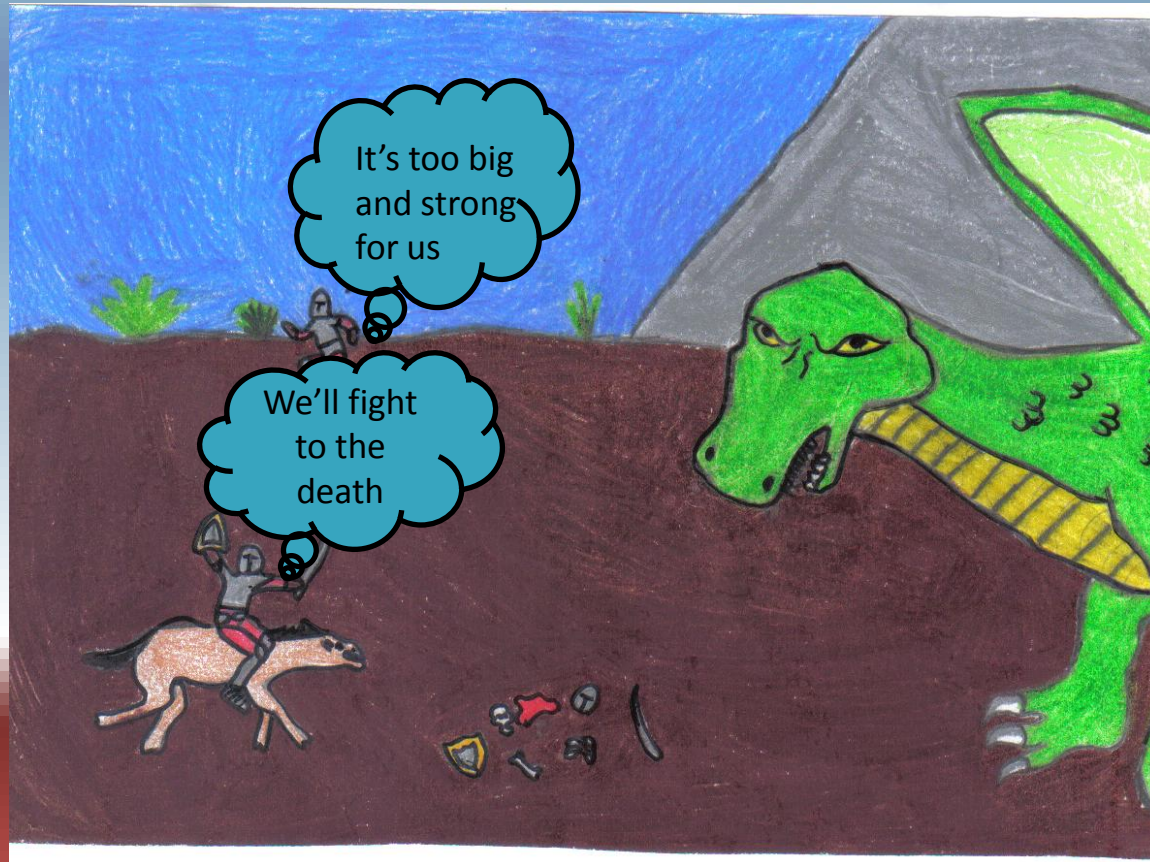

Roarrrrr!!!!

One day the sun was covered by a shadow of a huge dragon. It was spreading fear and scared everybody.

Soon first brave knights started coming to the fortified town.

Although more and more knights arrived, no one managed to beat the dragon. The knights were more and more tired , many wounded left the battlefield. They all agreed that this way they were not able to kill the dragon with that weapon.

I filled a sheep's skin with some sulphur . Now I'm going under the dragon's. den and I 'll put the stuffed lamb on pegs, like on legs, and when the dragon sees the bait, he will eat it.

After the knights defeat the townsmen were resigned to their fate when Skuba , the shoemaker , had an idea....

Skuba put the bait near the dragon's cave...

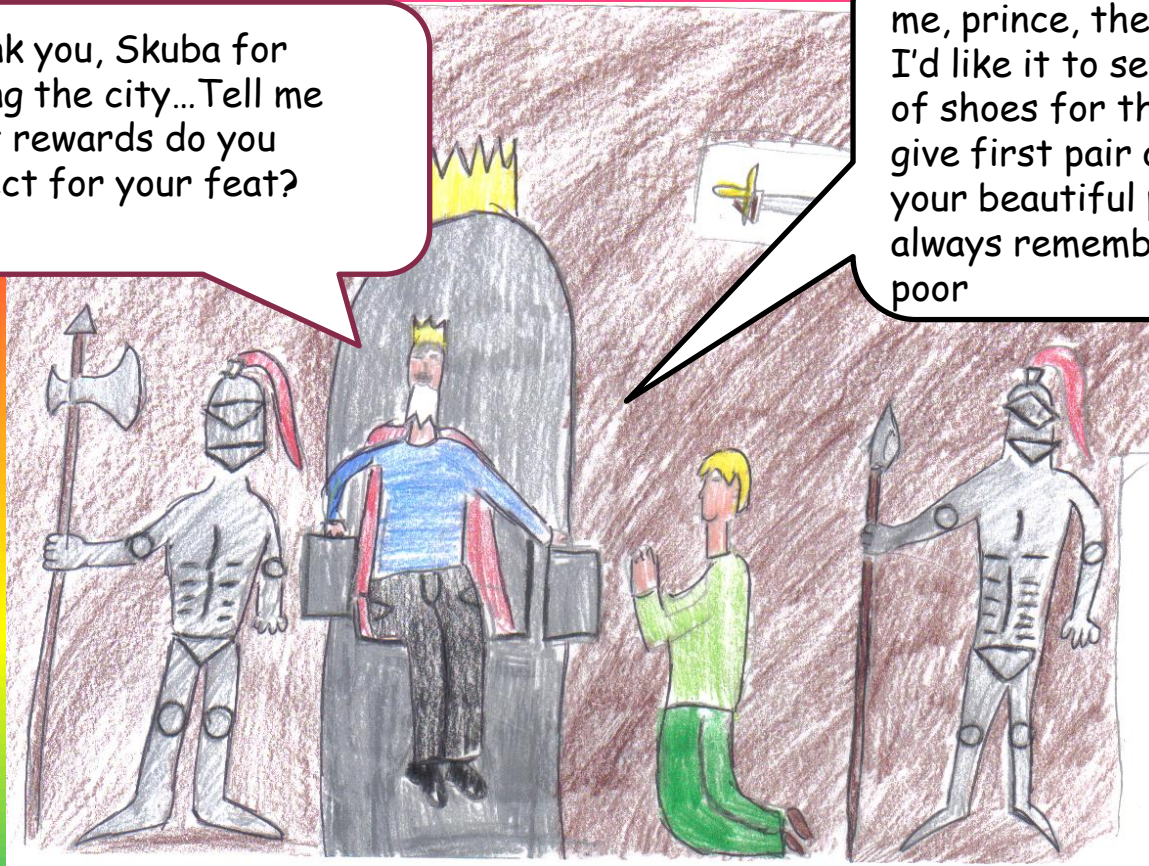

Next day the inhabitants of Kraków could see a monster drinking the water of the Vistula River without stopping.

Thank you, Skuba for saving the city... Tell me what rewards do you expect for your feat?

I have only one request: give me, prince, the dragon's skin. I'd like it to sew a lot of pairs of shoes for the poor and I'll give first pair of shoes to your beautiful princess, who always remembers about the poor

The prince Krak wants to reward Skuba for his feat...

The work was realized by
D.D. PARTANNA MONDELLO
PALERMO
ITALY

